IN HONOR

Of the Senior Class of the DeSoto County High School.

Edward Lock, a member of the graduating class of the DeSoto County High School, was host to that class last evening at a dinner which occurred at the beautiful home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Lock, about a mile north of the city on the Brownville road. At 6 o'clock the guests were invited into the dining room and the reception hall, where several tables were placed, around each of which four guests were seated, and the first course of the dinner was served. Between each course a guessing contest was held, the winners of which progressed to another table, and thus a merry time was in vogue during the entire five-course dinner.

The last course having been served, many games were indulged in, after which the time being 8 p. m., the members of the senior class departed for their respective homes. All the guests are as one in saying that the dinner was one of the most enjoyable affairs given to them this season. U. D. C. OBSERVED MEMORIAL DAY.
The Olustee Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy held a very simple memorial service at the Arcadia and Joshua Creek cemetery on Wednesday, the 26th.

On account of the Horticultural convention being in session in this city, no program was arranged. About twenty Daughters and their friends met at the home of the chapter president, Mrs. Della Robertson, and went from there to the Arcadia cemetery, carrying huge loads of flowers and a few Confederate flags. When assembled at the cemetery the following short service was rendered:

Song: Tenting On the Old Camp Ground.
Prayer: Rev. J. W. Vesey.
Decoration of graves.
Song: In the Sweet Bye and Bye.

The same service was repeated at the Joshua Creek cemetery, where two lovely Federal soldiers' graves were also remembered with flowers. Next year the chapter will observe this day with a far more elaborate program. In the meantime an earnest effort is being made to mark all Confederate graves in Arcadia and vicinity, and the chapter would appreciate any contribution to this fund from the sons or friends of our soldiers in gray.

MERCANTILE COMPANY WINS.

The judges have rendered their decision, and the only regret they had was that there were not at least four prizes offered in each case, as it seemed to have been a nip and tuck affair with four or five merchants that were competing for the prizes. Jake Wey's drug store wins the prize for the best decorated window by the narrow margin of 1-2 point, A. J. Dooler coming second. W. L. Carlton was a close third, being one point behind the winner.

Honorable mention should be made of the following: Smart Shop, S. Ross, Arcadia Mercantile Co., F. Marcus, Beehive, and W. H. Seward.

For the best display of vegetables during the three days of the meeting the Arcadia Mercantile Company is winner, with Beehive close second and Shell & Martin third.

Special mention should be made of Crawford & Francis, Farmers' Supply Company and H. R. Morley.

The merchants of Arcadia are to be commended for the progressive spirit manifested in decorating their windows during the meeting of the Horticultural Society. Many comments by the visiting delegates about what progressive, up-to-date stores Arcadia had and the splendid stocks of merchandise carried by the different mercantile establishments of the city were overheard by citizens of Arcadia.

Why suffer? Is there any excuse for you to continue to groan and limp and endure those excruciating tortures, when a prompt, safe, painless remedy is offered under a positive guarantee to relieve or money back? Surely, it is worth a quarter to get rid of those corns. And a remedy that is offered you with a guarantee to restore you feet to comfort, or money back, is worth a trial. Sold in this community only at our store, The Rexall Store, Wey's Drug Store.

manifested in decorating their windows during the meeting of the Horticultural Society. Many comments by the visiting delegates about what progressive, up-to-date stores Arcadia had and the splendid stocks of merchandise carried by the different mercantile establishments of the city were overheard by citizens of Arcadia.

Revs. R. T. Bell and J. W. Vesey were judges of the vegetable display, and Revs. R. T. Bell and G. F. Scott of the best decorated window.

WEST PALM BEACH

Gets the Next Horticultural Society Meeting.

The State Horticultural Society, which has been in session in this city since Tuesday, closed last night about 11:30 o'clock.

At this last meeting Capt. R. E. Rose, state chemist, of Tallahassee, made an excellent address, taking as his subject, "Fertilizer Frauds, Fakes and Fancies." Captain Rose told many interesting ways in which the farmers and growers of the state are separated from their hard earned money, receiving nothing in return but a recipe for making good fertilizers out of "road dust." His address was listened to with profound attention.

Others who spoke during the evening session were Mr. L. Heimbarger, Tallahassee; Ed. Scott, Arcadia; L. T. Dade, Fort Pierce, and Dr. J. B. Wheeler.

The convention was favored with a solo by Miss Hazel King, and a vocal duet by Miss Ella Polk and Mr. G. W. Burton. Many were the nice things said of the musical program presented at the various sessions, and which had been prepared by Miss Ella M. Polk of this city.

All the officers were re-elected, except that Mr. Ed. Scott, of this city, was elected as a member of the executive committee in the place of Mr. G. L. Taber, of Glen Saint Mary, and Mrs. Marian McAdow, of Punta Gorda, who declined to be re-elected as one of the three vice-presidents. Mr. S. F. Poole, of Winter Haven, was elected third vice-president in her place.

One of the most interesting events of the evening session was the selection of a place to hold the convention next year.

Six cities had invited the society for 1917, viz: West Palm Beach, Fort Myers, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Miami and St. Petersburg. Nominating speeches were made by representatives of these cities, but it was easily seen that the final contest would resolve itself between Fort Myers and West Palm Beach.

The first ballot showed the following vote: West Palm Beach, 75; Fort Myers, 53; St. Augustine, 11; Miami, 11; and St. Petersburg, 2. All were dropped on the second ballot except West Palm Beach and Fort Myers. This ballot stood, West Palm Beach 87 and Fort Myers 69. The president therefore declared that the next session of the society, in 1917, will be held in West Palm Beach.

All praise was given to the people of Arcadia for the royal way in which the delegates had been entertained. Resolutions were unanimously adopted by the society thanking everybody in Arcadia, because it seemed that all had done the best they could to see that the visitors had a good time.
